

Northern California Botanists *

present
a two-day symposium:

BOTANICAL TREASURES IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA: WHAT'S AT STAKE?

11 – 12 January 2010
California State University Chico
Bell Memorial Union Auditorium

Includes Poster Session and a third day of Workshops on Jan. 13

Student registration and travel stipends available through Northern California Botanists
Applications due 14 Dec. 2009. See www.norcalbotanists.org for details

Topics addressed:

NEW BOTANICAL DISCOVERIES
CONSERVATION GENETICS
POLLINATION BIOLOGY
PLANT/ANIMAL INTERACTIONS

MENTORING NEW BOTANISTS
INVASIVE SPECIES
ECOSYSTEM CONSERVATION TOOLS
BRYOPHYTE FLORA

Workshop Topics:

A MANUAL OF CALIFORNIA VEGETATION
HANDS-ON BOTANY LAB FOR TEACHERS
ENVIRONMENTAL PERMITTING OVERVIEW
RIPARIAN RESTORATION FIELDTRIP

KEYNOTE SPEAKER – Dr. Bruce Baldwin, Jepson Herbarium/UC Berkeley
Topic: "Impacts and Consequences of Molecular Taxonomy to Botanical Conservation"

For a detailed program and registration information, go to: www.norcalbotanists.org

$30 students/$135 members/$165 non-members

*Northern California Botanists: A Cooperative Association of Federal, State, Academic, Consulting, and Other Botanists in the Northern California Region, with the purpose of increasing knowledge and communication about botanical issues concerning science, conservation, education, and professional development.